InfoCision awarded ATA's Outstanding Corporate Citizen Award

Akron, Ohio, October 10, 2008 – The American Teleservices Association (ATA) recently awarded its inaugural Outstanding Corporate Citizen Award to InfoCision Management Corporation in light of the company's philanthropic works and community service efforts at the 2008 ATA Convention and Expo in San Antonio, Texas.

InfoCision raises more money for nonprofit organizations than any other company in the teleservices industry, and employees actively support the company's client organizations at both the national and local levels with generous donations of their time and money. Every year InfoCision and its employees donate hundreds of thousands of dollars and countless volunteer hours to a host of worthwhile causes. Giving back is part of InfoCision's corporate culture and employees are encouraged to volunteer for community and nonprofit organizations. At all levels of the company, employees frequently take time out of their workdays to help throughout the year. For instance, to honor the company's 25th anniversary, InfoCision donated $250,000 to charitable organizations in 2007.

The Outstanding Corporate Citizen Award recognizes an ATA member corporation or business for its philanthropic impact in the community through direct or indirect support of charitable projects. Leaders of the winning company must demonstrate a high level of community spirit and participation, motivating employees and colleagues to support and participate in charitable activities. InfoCision Senior Vice President of Corporate Affairs Steve Brubaker accepted the award on behalf of InfoCision.
