InfoCision brings American Cancer Society Relay for Life to their corporate campus

Akron, Ohio, May 26, 2009 – On Friday, May 15, InfoCision Management Corporation hosted its 11th annual American Cancer Society Relay for Life for the first time at its corporate campus in Montrose.

Four InfoCision employees and cancer survivors started off the day with a celebratory lap. Christine Bloomer, Mary DiNapoli, Mary Rowland and Theresa Stafford each received a framed certificate, and DiNapoli was presented with the Hope Award, for her 16-year-battle with cancer.

As one of the largest employers in Akron, the goal of having the event at the corporate headquarters was to add a level of convenience to encourage even more participation among InfoCision's employees as well as increase the amount of money raised for the American Cancer Society. More than 250 employees participated to support the fight against cancer.

In addition to volunteering their time, InfoCision employees raised more than $4,000 through donations, tribute pinwheels sales and jeans day fundraisers. InfoCision President and CEO Carl Albright's generous corporate gift of $5,000 brought the company's overall philanthropy to nearly $10,000.

"At InfoCision, we continually strive to be good corporate citizens. We pride ourselves on making a difference in the lives of thousands everyday, whether it is with the work we do for our non-profit clients as a call center company or as individuals. Giving back is simply part of our company's corporate culture," said Steve Brubaker, senior vice president of corporate affairs. "Employees are encouraged to actively support the company's client organizations and their efforts are accomplished on company time and considered part of the employee's work day," Brubaker added.
